

Managing Relationships

Remember, building a “friendship” is like a game of catch.

- It involves a back and forth between two people.
- First you invite them, then they invite you.
- You call them, then they call you.
- You email or message them, then they email or message you, etc.