

Deciphering Interest:*L3

You need two actors for this scene. Actor #1 needs to “read the signs” to determine if the other person is interested or not.

Role 1: You just saw an awesome movie.
You tell your co-worker about it.

Does s/he seem interested or not? How do you know?

Deciphering Interest:*L3

You need two actors for this scene. Actor #1 needs to “read the signs” to determine if the other person is interested or not.

Actor 2 (version 1): Your co-worker is telling you about a movie s/he saw.

Act like you are interested.

Deciphering Interest:*L3

You need two actors for this scene. Actor #1 needs to “read the signs” to determine if the other person is interested or not.

Actor 2 (version 2): Your co-worker is telling you about a movie s/he saw.

Act like you are not interested.

Deciphering Interest:*L3

You need two actors for this scene. Actor #1 needs to “read the signs” to determine if the other person is interested or not.

Actor 1: You are really excited about a trip you are taking. You tell your co-worker about it.

Does s/he seem interested or not? How do you know?

Deciphering Interest:*L3

You need two actors for this scene. Actor #1 needs to “read the signs” to determine if the other person is interested or not.

Actor 2 (version 1): Your co-worker is talking about a trip s/he is taking.

Act like you are interested.

Deciphering Interest:*L3

You need two actors for this scene. Actor #1 needs to “read the signs” to determine if the other person is interested or not.

Actor 2 (version 2): Your co-worker is talking about a trip s/he is taking.

Act like you are not interested.

Deciphering Interest:*L3

You need two actors for this scene. Actor #1 needs to “read the signs” to determine if the other person is interested or not.

Actor 1: Pick one of your favorite interest areas/hobbies. You tell your co-worker about it.

Does s/he seem interested or not? How do you know?

Deciphering Interest:*L3

You need two actors for this scene. Actor #1 needs to “read the signs” to determine if the other person is interested or not.

Actor 2 (version 1): Your co-worker is talking about a strong interest of his/hers.

Act like you are interested.

Deciphering Interest:*L3

You need two actors for this scene. Actor #1 needs to “read the signs” to determine if the other person is interested or not.

Actor 2 (version 2): Your co-worker is talking about a strong interest of his/hers.

Act like you are not interested.

Showing interest at work:*You need two actors for this scene:*L3

Your classmate is describing a concert she went to last night. How can you show you are interested?

Showing interest at work:*You need two actors for this scene:*L3

A customer is checking out at the register where you are working. She is talking to you about how busy her day has been.

How can you show you are interested?

Showing interest at work:*You need two actors for this scene:*L3

Your boss is talking about the schedule for next week.

How can you show you are listening?